Russell L. Stevenson
Architectural Historian

Mr. Stevenson is an architectural historian with three years of experience in cultural resource management, including two years assessing historic structural integrity and performing conservation work. His primary responsibilities consist of conducting historic architectural surveys and historic research for a variety of projects. Mr. Stevenson has identified, surveyed, and evaluated a wide array of residential, agricultural, and commercial properties in New Jersey, Delaware, and Pennsylvania. In addition, he spent two summers as an apprentice and one year as an architectural conservator technician performing conservation work for the Fairmount Park Historic Preservation Trust. As a conservator technician, his work regularly required him to assess the integrity of both interior and exterior architectural elements of historic buildings in order to decide on and apply the appropriate treatment. Mr. Stevenson is extremely knowledgeable of the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and Guidelines for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings. Mr. Stevenson served two years as a board member for the Allentown Preservation League; a small non-profit organization in Allentown, Pennsylvania, that operates an architectural salvage warehouse and promotes historic preservation in the city of Allentown. He meets the Secretary of the Interior Standards for Professional Qualifications (36 CFR 61).
