

minor scatter of mid-late 19th century historic artifacts. However, the site has been badly disturbed by erosion, cultivation, and livestock penning activities. The site is not eligible for the National Register and no further work is recommended.