Arriving before your kids say “are we there yet?”
That’s a first.

It’s among few trips away we can take them, when you’re really so close to home. Delaware. We’re less than two hours by car from both New York and Washington, but in another sense, a different world away. A place where you don’t have to find the kids. And kids are born that (I) of. A world you could just get away from it all, right in the middle of something.

Delaware: Your Destination For Family Fun!

From the sandy shores of the Delaware Bay and the Delaware Riverfront to the coastal barrier islands and the Brandywine Valley, Delaware has something for everyone.

Mileage Chart

Visitor Resources

Delaware

To learn more about driving in Delaware, visit the Delaware Department of Transportation website at delaware.gov/transportation.