

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
Introduction	1
Reading the Dirt: What Can Be Learned from the Archaeological Excavation of the Wilmington Boulevard Project Area	9
Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century Neighborhoods of Wilmington	15
A Changing Neighborhood	20
A Nineteenth Century Mineral Water Bottler	29
An Archaeological Detective Story	38
Food for Thought: Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century Diet in Wilmington	45
Summary	50
A Bibliography on Historic Archaeology, American Material Culture, and Wilmington History and Archaeology	52

LIST OF FIGURES

	Page
Figure 1. Wilmington Boulevard, Project Location, Wilmington, Delaware	iv
Figure 2. Blocks in Project Area	3
Figure 3. Plan of Wilmington Drawn in 1772	16
Figure 4. Profile of Trash Deposits and Barrel Privy on Lot Owned by Joseph Dowdall	33

LIST OF PLATES

Plate 1. Aerial View of the Wilmington Boulevard Project Area	v
Plate 2. Aerial of Excavation Market Street to King Street Block	5
Plate 3. Backhoe Testing	7
Plate 4. Photograph of 101 Shipley Street circa 1860s	10
Plate 5. Chinese Porcelain Tea Wares	21
Plate 6. Black Basaltes Inkwell/Quill Pen Holder	22
Plate 7. Blue Transfer Printed Pearlware Vessels	23
Plate 8. Glass Tumblers	25
Plate 9. Plainly Decorated Plates (blue edged pearlware type)	26
Plate 10. Items from the "Slop Shop"	28
Plate 11. Dowdall's Chester County, Pennsylvania Advertisement and Drawings of his Bottles	30
Plate 12. A Joseph Dowdall Mineral Water Bottle	31
Plate 13. Dishes of Blue Willow Transfer Print from Dowdall's Bottling Works	34
Plate 14. Teawares from Joseph Dowdall's Bottling Works	36
Plate 15. Blue Transfer Printed Vessels	39
Plate 16. Ironstone Vessels	40
Plate 17. Porcelain Doll Head, Tin Soldier	43